This is how graphics are shown. You can export the graphics to PDF/Excel (A), change the type of graphics (B) and pivot, configure or magnify the graph (C)

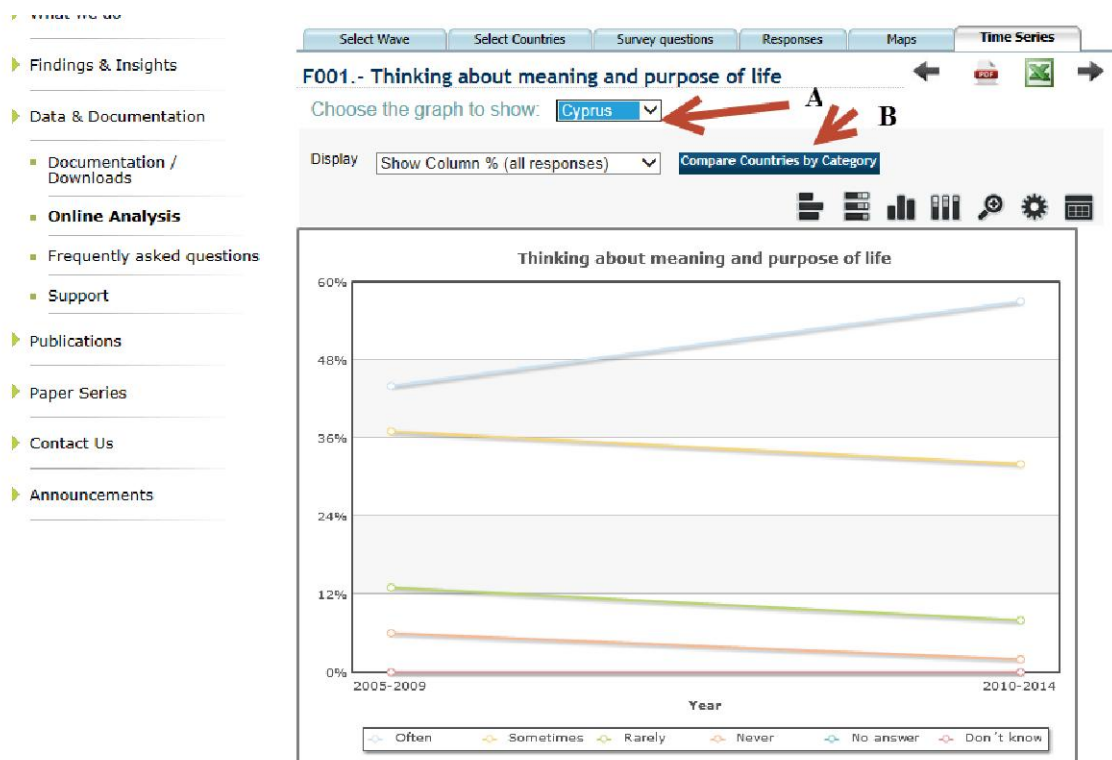

You can also see time series for the select countries and question by clicking the time series tab (11).

In the time series view you can export results to PDF (12) or Excel (13) and show graphics (14).

This is how the graphics are shown. You can select the country (A) or switch the graphics view (B) to compare countries by categories instead of categories by country.

And if you want to see the maps, click over Maps tab (15) (this works for all countries).

From the mapping view you can export to PDF and Excel (16), select the continent to view (17), select the type of indicator to display (18), set options for the indicator – when needed – (19) and view the indicator values (20). Don't worry to play with the options.

Short Biography

Christian Welzel obtained his Ph.D. in Political Science at the University of Potsdam in 1996 and in 2000 his Habilitation in Political Science at the Freie Universität Berlin. He was appointed Professor of Political Science at the Jacobs University Bremen (2002-2010) and joined the Leuphana University Lüneburg in 2010 and he stayed there until today. Welzel's own research program is congenial to Inglehart's theory of the nature of value change. This is well documented in his (Habilitation-) thesis "Fluchtpunkt Humanentwicklung. Ueber die Grundlagen der Demokratie und die Ursachen ihrer Ausbreitung" (2002). This theoretical
